The Convention.

The eyes of the whole nation are turned upon Chicago to-day, and every truly patriotic heart beats in sympathy with the grand movement there to be inaugurated. For eight long, disastrous years has the country been misgoverned, its true interests sacrificed to the selfish schemes and speculations of the most corrupt and diabolical cabal that ever grasped the reins of an enlightened government. Every day, almost every hour, brings to light some ignominious act, more infamous than the last, till it seems the low, ebb possible depth has been reached. Is it strange that the people should begin to enquire earnestly when and where these things are to end? Nay, is it not passing strange that they have so long and so patiently borne with this crushing weight of corruption? But it has been endured, and to-day have come together, from all parts of the country, from almost every state in the Union, good and patriotic men, who see and appreciate the perilous condition in which the country is placed, to deliberate upon the best means to extricate it from this condition, to devise measures to stop the downward progress of the government, to stimulate the people to unite in battling from power the men who have disgraced their positions and made the name of a republican government a reproach and a by word to all nations, and to join in placing men in their stead who will rule in accordance with the principles of freedom, justice and honesty. It is no wonder that this great movement should constitute the all-absorbing theme of conversation and enquiry. It is no wonder that the people have become thoroughly aroused; that they are looking with fixed earnestness at the means that are to dismember the government and disenthral the nation; that are to displace the unfaithful servants who are wasting the substance of the public treasury for selfish gains and party favoritism, and to secure a return to the first principles of our republican government.

May the deliberations of the Chicago convention, commenced to-day, be characterized by that intelligence, harmony, moderation and foresight which we have a right to expect from men chosen for such a purpose, to promote such a good cause. May nothing occur to check the good feeling and enthusiasm with which the delegates and attendants upon the convention have come together, and may no result transpire to dampen the ardor with which the people are prepared to enter the canvass.

The nomination and election of a republican president will do more for the restoration of confidence in a financial point of view and the revival of business and trade than any thing else can do. When the rulers of the nation lose their integrity; when they descend to low party intrigue; when a corrupt administration makes use of the public funds to procure the enactment of measures repugnant to the wishes of the people, then it is that business confidence sympathies with that in the government, and distrust and stagnation takes the place of hopeful enterprise. Under such circumstances, almost any undertaking is hazardous, property becomes unsafe, its value is fluctuating and unreliable, and the baleful influences of the government are felt in every department of industrial economy. Change the government, let only its legitimate functions be performed and confidence is at once restored and business undergoes an instant revival. What business man, tradesman, farmer or mechanic does not desire a radical change in the administration of the general government?

An old friend in our sanctum yesterday, one of our most staunch and reliable republicans, speaking of the tenacity with which a portion of the northern democracy adheres to Stephen A. Douglas, said it was a most striking reminder of the poor fox in the fable, who, after having nearly the last drop of his life's blood sucked from him by a hungry swarm of flies, implored a friendly swallow that proposed to chase them away, not to do any such thing; for, reasoned the fowler, but still cunning Reynard, this swarm, now partially satiated, may be succeeded by one still more voracious, by which I may be entirely devoured. Buchanan and his hungry swarm of office-holders have depleted the treasury, very nearly or quite to absolute exhaustion; Douglas would finish up the business of the body politic with his more numerous and more craving swarm. What the country needs and desires now, is an entirely different breed of insects, one whose natural and leading instincts are not for blood and insatiation.

Mr. CALVIN CUSHING.—This gentleman has returned from Charleston in a very bad odor. The Boston Herald, a democratic organ, asks, "who had the baseness to vote for C. Cushing as a nominee for the Presidency?" who, it proceeds further in no mild style, to characterize as "a puling suckling of democracy," and "a man praised from the slough of political chicanery." This is a painful domestic broil.

FIRE IN MILWAUKEE.—A large barn with all its contents, including twelve horses, was burned in Milwaukee, yesterday morning about 1 o'clock. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Loss from $3,000 to $4,000. No insurance.

True eloquence consists in saying all that is necessary, and nothing more.

Editorial Correspondence of the Gazette.

CHICAGO, May 15, 1860.

Since my letter of yesterday, thousands of republicans have arrived in the city. The railroad arrivals from every direction come with laden trains and burthened with their human freight. All night, or until two o'clock this morning, the streets were made vocal with bands of music accompanying the different delegations which were frequently arriving. It was a grand rallying of freemen from every hill and valley of the north and south.

Last night there was speaking in the great wigwam. It was nearly full and would have been quite so, if thousands had not been watching and preparing for the grand reception of the New England delegation which arrived at 9.45 P.M. All the streets in the neighborhood of the depot were crowded. Michigan avenue was illuminated. The arrival of the train was announced by rockets, the booming of cannon, and the loud hurrahs of the people. The Wide Awakes were out and formed a brilliant torch light procession, accompanying the delegates to their quarters.

There were about three hundred of the Wide Awakes—each man carried a torch held aloft by a staff, and wore upon his head a cap, and over his shoulders hung a black oil silk mantle to prevent the oil from the torches from soiling his clothes. They made an animated appearance, and are an institution to be widely disseminated during this campaign. They are a military company and a fire company, combined with political zeal; a compound sufficiently exciting to draw numerous votaries, and will give much zest to the approaching political contest.

The speakers at the Wigwam were Hon. Caleb B. Smith of Indiana, Hon. Thomas Coffey of Pa., and Hon. Thomas B. Van Buren of New York. They were all good speakers, were plentifully imbued with the "irrepressible conflict" doctrine. Mr. Coffey was especially zealous, and declared that the republicans could carry Pennsylvania with any candidate fairly representing their principles.

This was the first time we have attended a public meeting in the Wigwam. Its capacity is equal to the accommodation of ten thousand people, although its extension would not indicate it. The platform is large enough to contain the members of the national convention. There are roomy galleries, while under them, and in their front many thousands of people can stand. The whole is built in the form of an amphitheatre, sustained by tall columns which reach to the roof which are festooned with evergreens. Around in front of the galleries are painted the coats of arms of the several states. The whole interior is elegantly decorated, and when lighted with gas and filled by an enthusiastic audience presents a fine appearance. The people of Chicago deserve and receive great credit for their liberality and taste in getting up the Wigwam.

To-day has been spent by the thousands who throng the streets and the hotels, in discussing the nomination. It is carried on with zeal, but with perfect good feeling. The friends of Seward are by far the most numerous, and act fully in concert. They are in earnest for his nomination, believing that now is the time to nominate and elect him. Such is the judgment of his most cool and calculating friends. They are therefore working for him with a will. They think they can count upon more than one-third of the vote upon the first ballot. It is believed that neither Bates nor McLean will have much of a show in the convention. Lincoln, Chase, Wade and Cameron are most mentioned next to Seward. The nomination will be one of these four with the chance much in favor of Seward.

The enthusiasm of the people along the various lines of railroad, especially in Michigan and northern Indiana, is represented by the delegates to be great; while here it is up to fever heat, and will soon spread over the whole country.

There are whole sets of delegates from Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri. The majority of the delegates from the two former states are for Seward, and propose to fight the battle upon principle, rather than expediency.

The Missourians have brought with them a Bowie knife as a present to Hon. John F. Potter, which is of rather formidable dimensions. Including the handle, it is seven feet long; the blade is three feet and six inches in length, and three inches in width. On one side of the blade is inscribed "presented to John F. Potter of Wisconsin, by the republicans of Missouri—1860." On the reverse—"Will always meet a 'Pryor' engagement." This present attracts great attention and excites much mirth at Pryor's expense. It is rather a significant instrument, and means a good deal more than it says.

A meeting of the Wisconsin delegates, which was attended by quite a number of the citizens of the state not delegates, was held at their head quarters, opposite the post office, this afternoon. Mr. Schurz was selected as chairman of the delegation to give the vote of the state, and was instructed to give the entire vote of the delegation for Mr. Seward, as long as he shall be a candidate before the convention. Mr. Crocker was recommended as one of the presidents, Mr. Frisbie as one of the secretaries, Mr. Schurz as one of the committee on resolutions, and Mr. McGregor as one of the committee on permanent organization.

A resolution was adopted that the citizens of Wisconsin meet at 11 o'clock to-morrow forenoon at the head-quarters of the delegation, and escort the delegation to the convention.

The editorial fraternity is largely represented. The Journal of this afternoon reports 121 as already registered at that of the delegation, and escort the delegation to the convention.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

The Jacksonville (Fla.) Journal says the severe frost of last Thursday night has destroyed the prospect of the fruit in that vicinity. The farmers say that nearly all their apples, peaches and cherries are destroyed. This destruction of the fruit, together with the entire loss of the fruit crop will be a serious calamity to Morgan county.

The Charleston correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says that during the excitement occasioned by the withdrawal of the cotton states from the democratic convention, Senator Bigler visited the Kentucky delegation and urged them to withdraw also, promising that if they would do so, a portion of the Pennsylvania delegation would do the same.

A destructive fire occurred at Nebraska city, N. T., last Saturday afternoon, consuming nearly all the business portion of the town, consisting of forty-two prominent houses, including the post office, with considerable mail matter, and the government land office, with nearly all its papers; also the Nickels Horse. Loss estimated at $150,000; insurance $75,000, mostly in Hartford and St. Louis companies.

A man named Burke murdered his wife in the town of Norway, Racine county, Wisconsin, last week. He beat her to death while excited with liquor. He has not been arrested.

The Pennsylvania railroad company have lighted one of their cars with gas, and are preparing to introduce it generally.

A correspondent of the New York Herald writing concerning the expected execution of Rev. Mr. Hardan, says he will probably make a confession implicating others.

The Massachusetts commissioners now believe that unless some spread of the cattle contagion unknown to them has occurred, they have got the disease at North Brookfield and vicinity entirely under control.

The keeper of a drinking saloon in Keokuk, Iowa, last week, pushed the wife of one of his customers (who had come to take her husband away) out of doors, throwing her down six or eight steps, tearing the skin and flesh from her forehead till it hung over her eyes, and injuring her terribly.

COMING TO AMERICA.—Master Albert Edward, a promising young man of eighteen years, and heir to the English throne, is intending to visit America the present season. We hope Americans will be Americans; treat the young man with cordial hospitality, but not enter upon any obsequious ovations to him, as if he were a divinity.

In North Carolina the contest for governor is turning strangely upon the negro, who is the political pivot there as well as at the north. The question is whether he shall be taxed upon his value as property, or as a personal poll. The democrats are in favor of the latter proposition.

The bill for organizing new territories, reported in the House of Representatives by Mr. Grow, provides that, whereas slavery has no legal existence in the said territories, "nothing herein contained shall be so construed to authorize or permit its existence therein."

Two professional well-diggers, while digging a well near Dayton, Ohio, last week, were buried by the caving in of the sides, at the depth of sixty-four feet, and could not be extricated. They leave wives and three children respectively.

RAILROAD COLLISION.—Yesterday forenoon, the local freight train from Peoria over the Logansport, Peoria & Burlington railway came in collision with the westward bound freight train from Logansport, near Eureka, about twenty miles from Peoria. The latter train was behind time and was crowded, and added that the slaveholders who had become his bondsmen in the sum of $3,000, had confidence that he would either go back or remit them the sum. The New York Times' report of the meeting continues:

As Mr. Worth resumed his seat temporarily, to admit of the taking up of a collection on his behalf, a gentleman who announced himself as A. Perry Sperry, of North Carolina, amid much confusion, obtained the privilege of putting a few questions to the speaker. After a number of interruptions, hissing and considerable disorder the questions were brought out as follows:

1. Having been a magistrate, did you not know that from the circulation of Helper's book, and the preaching of your doctrines, that you were violating a law of the state?

2. Did not the citizens of North Carolina treat you as well as they could under the circumstances? And is there not, therefore, some kindness and love among the slaveholders?

3. Whether there is not liberty to discuss the slavery question in the south in the presence of all classes except the free blacks and slaves?

4. Why did not Mr. Worth get somebody besides slaveholders to go his bail?

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

CHICAGO, May 16.
At 12 o'clock the convention was called to order by Gov. Morgan, and after reading the call for the convention, Hon. David W. Atchafalpa, was nominated as temporary chairman.

Mr. Wilmet made an able and eloquent speech.

Prayer was made by the Rev. Mr. Hamphrey.

A committee of one was appointed from each state and territory to report permanent officers.

Desultory motions and speeches were made, among which was a motion to accept an invitation of the Board of Trade to a pleasure excursion this afternoon on Lake Michigan, which was agreed to, and afterwards reconsidered and deferred, many delegates representing the amount necessary of preceding business.

The convention took a recess from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The Wigwam is crowded, and great enthusiasm prevails. The feeling is strongly for Seward.

New York, May 16.
The excitement about the New York postoffice defalcation continues unabated. An investigation is going on, which promises to develop additional frauds and implicate several of the employees of the postoffice. A deficiency has been discovered in the accounts of the stamp clerk, amounting to $2,000. Mr. Fowler has not yet been arrested, and his whereabouts is not known.

New York, May 16.
Marshal Rynders, in company with his deputy, paid a visit to Wall street yesterday for the purpose of arresting a brace of operators who were charged with forging names on the pension office with intent to defraud the U. S. The parties implicated are S. Brainerd, a broker in Wall street, and Joseph Lawrence, an attorney and notary public. It is supposed that their operations in the way of forged land warrants for soldiers, and sailors' bounties, and pension claims will reach $500,000. Commissioner B. ordered them to be held to bail in the sum of $5,000 each.

WASHINGTON, May 16.
On motion of Mr. Morris, of Ill., a resolution was adopted calling on the P. M. General to communicate to the house as soon as possible all the facts and circumstances relative to the defalcation of Mr. Fowler, postmaster at New York.

The Japanese paid a visit to the state department to-day. The house committee have waited on the embassy, extending to them invitations to visit the Capitol, but they declined at present, fixing no time for that purpose, nor will they reply to municipal invitations from New York and elsewhere before being visited by the President. They are particularly observant of etiquette.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.
Display at Picket warehouse of two hundred and forty bbls. of premium tobacco, averaging twelve hundred weight, under patronage of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society, said to be the largest display of fine tobacco ever witnessed in the world. Tobacco dealers are present from every section of the Union. Premiums will be awarded this afternoon.

LIVERPOOL, May 16.
The royal mail steamship Europa, Capt. Leth, from Liverpool on the 5th inst., Queens-town, 6th inst., arrived at this port at 11 o'clock last night and sailed early this morning for Boston at which port she will be due by Thursday noon.

The royal mail steamship Persia from New York, April 25th, arrived at Queens-town on Friday, 4th inst. The general news unimportant. Rumors were prevalent of renewed troubles in Sicily. Spain grants a general amnesty. Liverpool breaks up declined. Provision market generally dull.

NEW YORK, May 16.
Flour market without striking change sales 10,000 bbls—5.50 super state; 5.25/5.35 extra state; 5.20 super western; 5.25/5.60 common to medium extra western. Wheat without striking change, sales 26,000 bush. 1.27/1.28 Milwaukee club; 1.45 winter and red western; 1.65 choice white Michigan. Rye steady. Barley quiet and steady.

HON. BENJAMIN F. WADE ON DISUNION AND HOME PROTECTION.—A Washington correspondent gives the following extracts of some remarks made by the Hon. Benjamin F. Wade of Ohio, at a gathering of some southern gentlemen in Washington, recently: "You ask me what the north will do in case the south should attempt to dissolve the Union on the election of a republican president. Gentlemen, I have no fears that the south will attempt anything of the kind. In such an event, however, I will frankly tell you what I would do. If I had the disposition to make war, I would make up my mind to make war with an armed force among the disunionists with a view to the capture of the south, and I would not return to the seat of government until I had strung up every disunionist in the land, wherever he might be found—either north or south—and quarters would be shown to no individual nor state who should attempt anything of the kind until they had repented in sackcloth and ashes. That is what I would do with the disunionists, so help me God!"

Mr. Wade also expressed his views on home protection, as follows:—I heartily concur with the gentleman from Pennsylvania in saying that we should have a protective measure of some kind. The more I think of the matter, the more am I convinced that we must inaugurate some protective system, in order to save us from bankruptcy and ruin. That there should be a change of some kind in this respect, none ought to dispute. The most prosperous days of this republic were, when we were living under a protective system. Not only does the iron interest of Pennsylvania and New Jersey require protection, but also the manufacturing interests of every kind, throughout the country crying aloud for a national shield to our home industry, which ought to be heeded.

THE DELEGATES.—There is a great array of earnest men in Chicago to-day, brought together from all parts of the country by a common impulse and for a common purpose. Every free state in the Union, and several of the slave states are largely represented and by men who belong to the very best, because the most intelligent and liberal, class of citizens in their respective states.

If any one has settled into the belief that the promises of the Chicago convention cannot be closed, we think the presence of this earnest multitude, representing the hosts of freemen, and reflecting all sections, ought to dispel the illusion.

Never before has a national convention been attended by more of the representative men of the people, and never has such a firm, determined purpose been exhibited to wrest the government from hands that have proved unworthy of the trust of a great people.—Chicago Tribune, 15th.

"Papa, have guns got legs?" "No." "How do they kick, then?" "With their breeches, my dear."

ACCIDENT TO A SAILOR.—FEARFUL SORROW.

A boy belonging on board the schooner Margaret, from the rigging of that vessel yesterday morning, fell a distance of sixty feet, crushing his ankle to atoms, and receiving other frightful injuries upon his head and body that will likely prove fatal. It is most remarkable that he was not killed on the instant. He was not engaged in the performance of any duties when he fell, but simply playing in the rigging, and making a reckless display of his agility and daring. Starting to go from the main topmast to the fore topmast stay, which is fixed at least sixty feet from the deck, when about half way across he threw his legs on the star, let go his hands, and hung head downwards. Rendered dizzy, it is to be presumed, by this operation, he was unable to grasp his hold upon the stay, and was observed by the horrified spectators to clutch at it several times with his hands, thus giving them a fearful anticipation of the catastrophe that followed. Soon his legs, which were twisted about the rope relaxed suddenly, and the unfortunate boy was dashed upon the deck from that tremendous height, well that he was not instantly killed seems well-nigh miraculous. He was taken up senseless and conveyed to the hospital under the care of Dr. Pratt.—Buffalo Express, 9th.

The Douglas meeting held at New Orleans last week, to endorse the action of those who stayed in the Douglasist convention, and denounce the seceders, is described by the Delta as a fizzle. It says there was hardly enough people present to organize a territory under Douglas's doctrine of squatter sovereignty, which we believe is about one hundred and fifty. It was a "mess meeting" in the open air. Speeches were made by Messrs. Morse, Heistand, Hahn, and Clark.

Hon. Mr. Morse said that if Stephen A. Douglas was not elected the next president, William H. Seward would be—a sentiment which may be safely commended to the consideration of weak-kneed republicans.

Hypophosphites

IN THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

I need only call the attention of all Consumptive sufferers, whether in advanced or the incipient stage of the disease, to the following extract from a letter addressed to me by a physician of great experience, and extensive practice in Chester Co., Pa. The voluntary evidence of professional men, such as that of Dr. Townsend, ought to convince the most skeptical of the extraordinary efficacy of my preparation of Hypophosphites.

FIXED J. WINTCHESTER—On the 28th, 1859, I have been having the medicine from me, twelve of whom have been cured, and the rest are getting well. My opinion, and in the judgment of other physicians, is that the medicine is a most valuable remedy for all cases of Consumption, whether in the incipient or advanced stage. These cases were from one to three years' standing. Amputation and peritonitis developed, which, taken in connection with other symptoms, gave evidence of a condition from which I have never, in seventeen years' practice, seen a single case recover by any other treatment than that of my medicine. The Hypophosphites, all the bad symptoms ceased; they have gained flesh and strength and health, and are better than they had enjoyed for several years previously.

The other cases under my care were in
